PREFATORY.

THE present volume is more of a selection than a complete record. Under the circumstances, considering the vast number of recent American plays, it was impossible to bring all the titles together. I think, however, that the list given will be found to include all of the important examples of late native drama. It is to be regretted that many of our best plays by American authors still remain in manuscript, and we are fortunate, indeed, to possess in printed form Thomas's "Alabama" and Fitch's "Nathan Hale"—plays containing dramatic work that must be taken on the very highest plane of modern drama. Without the assistance of several valued friends this list would have been deplorably incomplete. I hereby gratefully acknowledge my indebtedness to Wilberforce Eames of the Lenox Library, for suggestions and the loan of a number of useful bibliographical aids; to Harry M. Lydenberg, for the collations of the American plays in the Duyckinck Collection in the New York Public Library; to Oscar Wegelin, the compiler of "Early American Plays, 1714-1830" (of which this is practically a second part); and to John Anderson, Jr.

First played at the Troy Museum in 1852.

ALDRICH, THOMAS BAILEY.

Born at Portsmouth, N. H., November 11, 1836, and distinguished as a poet and novelist. In addition to "Mercedes," he has written two beautiful dramatic fragments, full of exquisite writing: "The Sisters' Tragedy" and "Pauline Pavlovka."

Mercedes, and Later Lyrics.

12mo, pp 111. Boston, 1884.

Mercedes. A Drama in Two Acts, as performed at Palmer's Theatre.

12mo, pp 71. Boston, 1894.

The latter is the first separate edition. When played at Palmer's, Julia Arthur played the title part, which she embodied with infinite pathos and charm.

ALEXANDER, JAMES B.

King Solomon. A Drama in Five Acts.

8vo, pp 112. Minneapolis, the author, 1899.

ALLEN, ETHAN.

Washington; or, the Revolution.

8vo, 2 vols. Chicago, 1895.

ALLEN, PETER JOHN.

Born in England in 1825; died in Fredericton, New Brunswick, in 1848.

A noted classical scholar (1797-1867), for many years professor of ancient languages at Columbia College, New York.

The Son of the Wilderness. A Dramatic Poem, in Five Acts. By Friedrich Halm (Baron Münch-Bellinghausen). Translated from the German.

12mo, pp 166. New York, printed for the translator, 1848.

Later American Plays.

The original play was first performed at the Palace Theatre, Vienna, January 28, 1842. The play is now generally known as "Ingomar," the name given to it by a translator whose version has none of the literary merits of Professor Anthon's.

APPLETON, NATHAN.

Centennial Movement, 1876. A Comedy in Five Acts.

12mo, pp 56. Boston, 1877.

AUSTIN, J. J.

The Golden Age to Come. A Sacred Drama.

12mo, pp 124. Boston, 1854.

BABCOCK, DR. J. FREDERIC.

Floret; or, the Poor Girl. A Domestic Drama, in Four Acts. From the tales of Pierce Egan.

12mo, pp 62. Bangor, Maine, 1874.

BACON, DELIA SALTER.

The earliest exponent of the Baconian theory of the authorship of Shakespeare's plays (born in 1811 and died in 1859). See Hawthorne's "Recollections of a Gifted Woman," her "Life" by Theodore Bacon, etc.

The Bride of Fort Edward. Founded on an incident of the Revolution.

12mo, pp 174. New York, 1839.

This "dramatic story," in six parts, was published anonymously. It is very rare.

BAILEY, JOHN J.

Waldimar. A Tragedy in Five Acts. Not published.

8vo, pp 124, [2], 6. New York, 1834.

Played by Charles Kean in New York and Philadelphia. Dedicated to Lewis Cass, Secretary of State. Prologue by Robert C. Sands ("spoken by Mr. Barry"); epilogue by Theodore S. Fay ("spoken by Mrs. Sharpe").

BAKER, BENJAMIN A.

An actor, dramatist, and manager, born in New York in 1818.

A Glance at New York. A Local Drama, in Two Acts.

12mo, pp 32. New York [1857].

Published anonymously. First produced at Mitchell's Olympic Theatre, February 25, 1848.

BAKER, GEORGE AUGUSTUS.

A lawyer and verse-writer of New York City (born in 1849), the author of "West Point: a Comedy."

BAKER, GEORGE MELVILLE.

Born in Maine in 1832, died in 1890. The author and compiler of "Amateur Dramas," "The Social Stage," and works of similar character,

BALLOU, MATURIN MURRAY.

The editor and founder of several Boston periodicals (1820-1895). He wrote a number of books of travel.

Miraldi; or, the Justice of Tacoma. A Drama.
12mo, pp 29. Boston, 1859.

BAMBURGH, WILLIAM CUSHING.

Giacomo. A Venetian Tale.

12mo, half title and title, 2 leaves; "dramatis personæ" and "scene the first," 2 leaves; text 6-19 leaves, verso of each blank. New York, privately printed for the author, 1892.

Pages 193-265 of "The Mystic Delvings" (poems).

BATEMAN, MRS. SIDNEY F.

Self. An Original Comedy, in Three Acts.

12mo, pp 46. New York [1856]. "French's Standard Drama, No. CLXIII."

A New York society play, first performed at Burton's Chambers Street house, October 27, 1856. Later John E. Owens revived "Self," playing with much success Burton's part of Unit.

BERGER, WILLIAM.

Paul Jones. A Drama in Five Acts, translated from the French of Alexander [sic] Dumas.

12mo, pp 89. Philadelphia, 1839.

The adapter, who was a New Orleans writer, dedicated his play to Edwin Forrest. "This being his first literary attempt, he throws himself on the indulgence of the public, the more so as his avocations lie in a different way."—From the author's preface, dated "New Orleans, July, 1839."

BERGH, HENRY.

A New York philanthropist (1823-1888), founder of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. He wrote "Love's Alternative: a Drama."

BERNARD, WILLIAM BAYLE.

According to Sargent, Bernard was "an American by birth, his father, who was a capital personator of Irish characters, having been for a number of years manager of the Federal Street Theatre in Boston. The son has been long a resident of London, and some of the most amusing afterpieces of the day are from his pen." In addition to the plays named below, Bernard wrote "The Passing Cloud," "The Irish Attorney," "The Evil Genius," "The Middy Ashore," "The Mummy," "Platonic Attachments," "St. Mary's Eve," etc.

The Nervous Man and the Man of Nerve.

A Farce in Two Acts.

12mo, pp 45. New York, n. d. "Modern Standard Drama, edited by Epes Sargent, No. XXXVI."

His Last Legs. A Farce in Two Acts.

12mo, pp 41. New York, n. d. "The Minor Drama, No. VI."

BIRD, ROBERT MONTGOMERY.

A novelist of Philadelphia, whose most popular work was "Nick of the Woods," 1837. He was born in Delaware in 1803, and died in Philadelphia in 1854. In addition to "The Gladiator," he wrote "The Broker of Bogota" and "Oraosa." His "Nick of the Woods" was dramatized by Miss L. H. Medina.

The Gladiator. A Play in Five Acts.

16mo, pp 66. Philadelphia [1837]. Frontispiece.

BLOOD, HENRY AMES.

Lord Timothy Dexter; or, the Greatest Man in the East. A Comedy in Five Acts.

12mo, pp 43 [n. p., 1874].

BOKER, GEORGE HENRY.

A poet and diplomat of Philadelphia (1823-1890), Minister to Turkey and Russia successively. Of his four tragedies "Calaynos" and "Francesca da Rimini" are the best, the latter having been played with success by E. L. Davenport and Lawrence Barrett.

Calaynos. A Tragedy.

12mo, pp 218. Philadelphia, 1848.

Anne Boleyn. A Tragedy.

12mo, pp 225. Philadelphia, 1850.

Leonor de Guzman. A Tragedy.

Francesca da Rimini. A Tragedy.

The Betrothal. A Play.

The Widow's Marriage. A Comedy.

The last four of these plays were published in "Plays and Poems," 2 volumes, 12mo. Boston, 1857. Pp viii + 474, and vi + [2] + 450.

BOUCICAULT, DION.

Born in Dublin, December 20, 1822; died in New York, September 18, 1890. His "London Assurance," produced at Covent Garden Theatre, London, March 4, 1841, was a second "School for Scandal." It was the first success of a strange genius who ruled the English-speaking stage for the following thirty-five years, writing and adapting over four hundred plays. The following list deals only with the plays Boucicault wrote in this country. It is doubtful whether the material now exists for a complete bibliography of his different works.

To Parents and Guardians! An Original Comic Drama, in One Act. By the author of "Diogenes," "The Philosopher's Stone," "The Vicar of Wakefield," "Sir Roger de Coverley," "Red Riding Hood," etc.

12mo, pp 24. New York, n. d. "French's American Drama, No. CXXVII."

Boucicault played Monsieur Tourbillon.

Andy Blake; or, the Irish Diamond. A Comedy in Two Acts.

12mo, pp 19. New York, 1856. "Boucicault's Dramatic Works, forming the Repertoire of Miss Agnes Robertson, No. II."

Agnes Robertson played Andy.

Boucicault's early plays were printed over the name of "Dion L. Bouricault." My copy of "The School for Scheming," London, 1847, is apparently by "Dion De P. Bouricault," and other interesting variations are to be found. He did not drop the "r" from his name until 1860. His full name originally was Dionysius Lardner Bouricault, "Lardner" coming from the name of his godfather, the distinguished scientist.

The Phantom. A Drama in Two Acts.

12mo, pp 28. New York, 1856. "Bouricault's Dramatic Works, . . . No. III."

Boucicault played The Phantom and Alan Raby, and Mrs. Boucicault played Lucy Peveryl and Ada Raby.

Wanted—A Widow, with Immediate Possession. A Farce in One Act. By Dion Bouricault [sic] and Charles Seymour. As performed at Wallack's Theatre, November, 1857.

12mo, pp 16. New York [1857]. "Bouricault's Dramatic Works, . . . No. IV."

The Poor of New York. A Drama in Five Acts. By the * * * * Club. As performed at Wallack's Theatre, December, 1857.

12mo, pp 45. New York [1857]. "French's Standard Drama, No. CLXXXIX." On front cover, "Bouricault's Dramatic Works, No. 5." On second and third pages of covers is an interesting list of Boucicault's plays.

At Wallack's Lester Wallack played Badger. Boucicault produced the play at the Princess's Theatre, London, August 5, 1864, under the title of "The Streets of London." The original of the play, and also of Daly's "Under the Gaslight," was "Les Pauvres de Paris," in seven acts, by E. Brisebar and Eugène Nus, acted in 1856 at the Paris Ambigu Comique.

Jessie Brown; or, the Relief of Lucknow.

A Drama in Three Acts. (Founded on an Episode in the Indian Rebellion.)

12mo, pp 32. New York, [1858]. "Boucicault's Dramatic Works, . . . No. VI."

Boucicault played the Nana Sahib, and Mrs. Boucicault played Jessie.

Pauvrette. A Drama in Five Acts.

12mo, pp 36. New York, [1858]. "Boucicault's Dramatic Works, . . . No. VII."

Boucicault played Bernard, and Mrs. Boucicault played Pauvrette, when the play was produced at Niblo's Garden, New York, October, 1858.

The Pope of Rome. An Historical Romance, in Six Tableaux.

12mo, pp 40. New York, [1858]. "Boucicault's Dramatic Works, . . . No. VIII."

Produced at Niblo's, October, 1858, Boucicault playing Hugo, and Mrs. Boucicault Bianca Colonna.

The Colleen Bawn; or, the Brides of Garryowen. A Domestic Drama, in Three Acts.

12mo, pp 42. New York, [1860]. "French's Standard Drama, No. CCCLXVI."

First performed at Laura Keene's Theatre, New York, March 27, 1860, Boucicault playing Myles, Laura Keene Anne Chute, Madame Ponisi Mrs. Cregan, and Mrs. Boucicault Eily O'Connor. The first London production was at the Adelphi Theatre, September 10, 1860, with Boucicault and his wife in their original parts. Gerald Griffin's novel of "The Collegians" furnished the plot for the play.

The Octoroon; or, Life in Louisiana. A Play in Five Acts. Printed, not published.

12mo, pp 40. n. p. n. d.

First played at the Winter Garden Theatre, New York, December, 1859, with Joseph Jefferson as Salem Scudder, and Mrs. J. H. Allen as Zoe. Boucicault produced the play in London at the Adelphi, November 18, 1861. He played Scudder, and his wife Zoe.

Grimaldi; or, the Life of an Actress. A Drama in Five Acts.

12mo, pp 36. New York, 1864.

How She Loves Him. A Comedy in Five Acts.

12mo, pp 48. New York, n. d. "French's Parlor Comedies, No. 2."

First played at Wallack's, December 12, 1864.

The Long Strike. A Drama in Four Acts.

12mo, pp 38. New York, n. d. "French's Standard Drama, No. CCCLX."

Led Astray. A Comedy in Five Acts.

8vo, pp 57. New York, [1873].

The Shaughraun. An Original Drama, in Three Acts.

12mo, pp 64. n. p. n. d.

First played at Wallack's, November 14, 1874, with Harry Montague as Capt. Molineaux, Chas. A. Stevenson as Robert Ffolliott, John Gilbert as Father Dolan, Boucicault as Conn, Miss Jeffries Lewis as Arte O'Neale, Madame Ponisi as Mrs. O'Kelly, Jane Burke as Moya, and Ada Dyas as Claire Ffolliott. First played in London at Drury Lane, November 6, 1875, with Boucicault as Conn, and his wife as Moya.

BOXER, REV. JAMES.

Sacred Dramas. I. Naaman the Syrian. II. The Finding of Moses. III. Jephthah's Daughter.

12mo, pp 174. Boston, 1875.

BRECK, JOSEPH.

West Point; or, a Tale of Treason. An Historical Drama, in Three Acts, dramatised from Ingraham's Romance of American History. With a prologue by John H. Hewitt. Epilogue by R. Horace Pratt.

8vo, pp 22. Baltimore, 1840.

BROOKS, CHARLES TIMOTHY.

A Unitarian clergyman of Newport (1813-1883), whose English versions of Schiller, Richter, Goethe, and Schefer are notably fine.

William Tell. A Drama in Five Acts. From the German of Schiller.

12mo, pp 120. Providence, 1838.

Published anonymously.

Faust. A Tragedy. From the German of Goethe.

16mo, pp 234. Boston, 1856.

BROUGHAM, JOHN.

A popular comedian and talented dramatist (born in Dublin, May 9, 1810; died in New York, June 7, 1880). While manager of the London Lyceum in the early forties, he wrote and produced there the following plays (which were probably published in London, though I have never seen them): "Life in the Clouds," "Love's Livery," "Enthusiasm," "Tom Thumb the Second," and "The Demon Gift" (the latter with Mark Lemon, the humorist). In New York he wrote for various actors and theatres, in addition to the plays given below, the following dramas, comedies, and extravaganzas: "Bunsby's Wedding," "The Confidence Man," "Don Cæsar de Bassoon," "Vanity Fair," "All 's Fair in Love," "Home," "Ambrose Germain," "The World's Fair," "Faustus," "The Spirit of Air," "Row at the Lyceum," "David Copperfield," "The Actress of Padua," "The Pirates of the Mississippi," "Orion, the Gold Beater," "Tom and Jerry in America," "The Game of Love," "The Game of Life," "The Ruling Passion," "This House to be Sold," "Flies in the Web," "O'Donnell's Mission," "The Christian Martyrs," "Little Nell and the Marchioness," "Hearts; or, the Serpents of Society," "The Lottery of Life," "The Emerald Ring," "Better Late than Never," "The Dramatic Review for 1868," "Irish Stew," "Much Ado About a Merchant of Venice," "The Red Light," "Minnie's Luck," "John Garth," "The Lily of France," "Slander," "Good-Bye," and "Home Rule." In 1860-65, while in England, he wrote and adapted a number of plays.

CONRAD, ROBERT TAYLOR.

A lawyer of Philadelphia (1810-1858), and mayor of that city in 1854, who was once noted as a dramatic poet. "Aylmere, or the Bondman of Kent," a tragedy in which Jack Cade is the chief figure, was played by Edwin Forrest with much success. "Conrad of Naples," another tragedy, had its measure of popularity. This, a youthful effort, was first played at the Arch St. Theatre, Philadelphia, January 17, 1832, with James E. Murdoch as the hero, a part played later by John R. Scott. "Jack Cade" was originally written (at the suggestion of F. C. Wemyss) for A. A. Addams in 1835, but the tragedian failed in the part. In 1839 Judge Conrad rewrote the tragedy for Edwin Forrest, changing the title from "The Noble Yeoman" to "Aylmere; or, The Kentish Bondman," this new title being subsequently changed to the one it now bears. In its new form "Jack Cade" was one of Forrest's chief successes.

Aylmere; or, the Bondman of Kent, and other Poems.

DALY, JOHN AUGUSTIN.

Born at Plymouth, N. C., July 20, 1838, the son of a retired officer of the English navy, Daly came to New York at an early age. His first dramatic effort, a farce entitled "A Bachelor's Wardrobe," was returned by William E. Burton. He finally came before the public December 8, 1862, with "Leah the Forsaken," an adaptation of Mosenthal's "Deborah," Kate Bateman enacting the title part. His first original play, "Under the Gaslight," produced at the old New York Theatre in 1867, was a great sensational success. His later career, as author and manager in three countries, is history. He died of heart failure in Paris, June 7, 1899. I have thought it proper to include in the following list of his plays only his earliest efforts, original and adapted, and a few of the many Shakespearian and old-time comedies which he revised for production and privately printed. Considerations of space forbid any attempt at completeness.

Under the Gaslight. A Drama in Five Acts.

Teresa Contarini. A Tragedy in Five Acts. First Performed at the Park Theatre, New York, March, 1835.

Published in "Poems, Translated and Original." 12mo, pp 229. Philadelphia, 1835.

The tragedy fills pp 138-229 of this volume. In the general preface the author says: "The play is founded upon an incident well known in the history of Venice, which has formed the material for several works of fiction. Niccolini has written a classic play on the subject, of which I have availed myself in part of the first scene of the first act, and in a few occasional passages of scene first of the fifth act. The conduct of the plot, and the leading incidents, differ materially from those of Niccolini. The author renders grateful acknowledgments to Miss Phillips, who sustained the part of the heroine, and to whose talents and exertions the play was indebted for its success in representation."

Performed for the first time at the Boston Museum, April 7, 1862. A really clever piece of fooling, still occasionally played by amateurs.

WOOLSON, CONSTANCE FENIMORE.

A novelist (1838-1894) whose work was much above the average level of fiction. "Horace Chase" was her best work, but notable in many ways were "Castle Nowhere," "Anne," "For the Major," "East Angels," etc.

Two Women: 1862. A Poem [in dramatic form].

12mo, pp 92. New York, 1877.

The Ethiopian Drama.

ALTHOUGH the sketches used in the early days of the American minstrel stage form an entertaining part of native drama, I have thought it best to give only a few specimens. Over five hundred examples of the Ethiopian drama were probably printed, and it would be impossible, and not altogether desirable, to give, in this volume, a complete bibliography.

Mazeppa. An Equestrian Burlesque, in Two Acts.

Transposed and arranged by C. White.

12mo, pp 24, with frontispiece. New York, [185-?].

"Brady's Ethiopian Drama, No. III."

Old Dad's Cabin. A Negro Farce, in One Act and One Scene. Written and arranged by C. White.

12mo, pp 16, frontispiece. New York, [185-?]. "Brady's Ethiopian Drama, No. VI."

The Quack Doctor. A Negro Farce, in One Act and One Scene. By John W. Smith. Played first at the St. Louis Amphitheatre, March, 1851. Presented to C. White, Esq., May, 1855.

12mo, pp 22. New York, n. d. "Brady's Ethiopian Drama, No. XI."

The Mystic Spell. A Pantomime, in Seven Scenes.

Arranged by C. White, and first played at his Opera House, 49 Bowery, N. Y., October, 1855.

12mo, pp 15. New York, n. d. "Brady's Ethiopian Drama, No. XII."

Oh! Hush! or, The Virginy Cupids. An Operatic Olio. Arranged by C. White. In One Act and Three Scenes.

12mo, pp 21. New York, n. d. "Brady's Ethiopian Drama, No. XIX."

Vilkens and Dinah. A Negro Farce, in One Act and One Scene. Written and arranged by C. White.

12mo, pp 13, frontispiece. New York, n. d. "Brady's Ethiopian Drama, No. XX."

Jumbo-Jim. An Original Farce, in One Act.

12mo, pp 16. Boston, n. d. "Spencer's Boston Theatre, No. CXLIV."

Played at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, 1842, with T. D. Rice as Jumbo-Jim.

Coal Heavers' Revenge. A Negro Sketch. By George L. Stout, Esq., arranged by Charles White. First performed at the Howard Athenæum, Boston, December 21, 1868.

12mo, pp 7. New York [1874]. "De Witt's Ethiopian and Comic Drama, No. 35."

A Slippery Day. An Ethiopian Sketch, in One Scene, by Robt. Hart, arranged by Charles White. First performed at Alhambra, San Francisco, Feb. 14, 1872.

12mo, pp 7. New York, [1875]. "De Witt's Ethiopian and Comic Drama, No. 46."

The Academy of Stars. An Ethiopian Sketch. By A. J. Leavitt and H. W. Eagan.

12mo, pp 8. New York, n. d. "French's Ethiopian Drama, No. 24."
